To Whom It May Concern,

On behalf of the Lake Street Council, I am writing to express that proprietor Josh Ivy's Up-Down Arcade Bar has been a real asset to our neighborhood in Minneapolis. I would recommend that any municipality welcome a related business.

The Lake Street Council is a non-profit that engages and supports the Lake Street community in Minneapolis.

We have heard no complaints about the business from the community since its opening last year. In fact, the business has brought new life to a vacant building. The business really helps build community between people, by engaging different members of the community in playing games together.

We have full confidence that a similar business will be a great asset to the neighborhood.

Thank you for your consideration,

Allison Sharkey
Executive Director
